Bellevue Will Celebrate On Victoria Day

Proceeds in Aid of Extension Fund of United Church—A Fine Program Assured Pass People

Bellevue United Church is preparing its fifth annual celebration of Victoria Day in the arena of that town by holding junior races, novelty races, high jumping, and other sports, on Wednesday, May 24. A grand parade will start from the school grounds at 1 o'clock, headed by West Canadian Collieries Military Band under Bandmaster George Goodwin. Two prizes are to be awarded for the most attractive entries.

The election of the May Queen will be decided on by popular balloting from the sale of admission tickets. The platform attraction will include the crowning of the May Queen, junior choral singing, drills, folk dances and dances.

The proceeds will be devoted to the United church extension fund, and the admission to the arena will be 25c.

Palace Theatre Being Renovated

Work started this week to entirely renovate the Palace theatre. The stage and orchestra pit have been eliminated and space for two more rows of seats has been made available. Immediately below the screen, two large blower type fans will be installed with a filter system giving 10,000 cubic feet of air per minute resulting in a change of air in the theatre every five minutes.

The cloth-like material at present on the walls will be taken off and replaced with the modern style donnocona insulating board as the basic decoration. The lighting fixtures at present hanging from the ceiling will be taken down and an indirect lighting system installed in the walls. The entrance and box office will be radically changed as well as the stairway to the balcony. "It will be the most beautiful theatre in the Pass," stated Mr. Cole as he described the improvements to be made. Contractor D'Appolonia is in charge of the renovation.

New Sports Field Ready Next Week

Work on the new sports field opposite the McGillivray tipple has been progressing favorably and the field is expected to be ready for play next week.

John Salvador's tractor levelled the ground, followed by men with rakes to take off the rocks. A heavy roller will be used to pack the soil and this is expected to complete improvements.

Junior Hockey Players Buy Leather Jackets

Leather jackets have been purchased by Coleman junior hockey players to commemorate the winning of the B. class provincial junior hockey title last winter.

The jackets bear a crest with the words, "Alberta Provincial Junior Champions, B. Class, 1938." Purchase was made for fifteen players.

Auto Thieves Arrested in Coleman

Smart detective work by Sergeant Caswey and Constable Wilson of the R.C.M.P. detachment, Blairmore, resulted in the arrest of two auto thieves in Coleman on Monday evening. The two men, about 21 years of age were taken to jail at Blairmore.

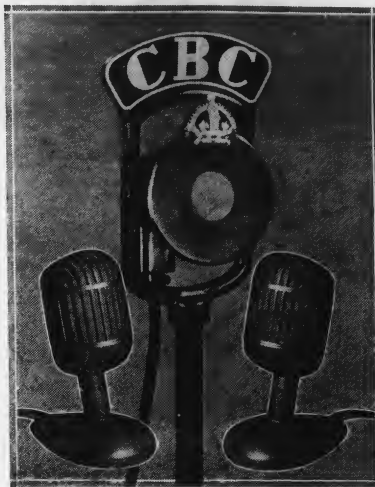

The car, a 1939 Pontiac, was stolen at Leader, Saskatchewan, at 1 a.m. Monday, the thieves driving into Alberta. A description of the car and license number was issued, Sergeant Caswey receiving the information at 5:30 Monday evening from the Lethbridge detachment.

Careful scrutiny of all cars in the district resulted in the car being spotted on Coleman's main street at 7 p.m. The two men were arrested as they entered the car to drive away.

Other theft charges are laid against the men. The owners of the car are coming from Saskatchewan to claim it.

Attention is directed to the display advertisements of various firms appearing in this issue. These paints now on sale are by well-known Canadian manufacturers, and their guarantee of quality assures the buyer of the best values in paints for either interior or exterior work.

The King's Microphones

THROUGHOUT the Empire the voice of His Majesty during the Royal Visit to Canada will be heard through these microphones. They have been produced by the Northern Electric Company, to the specifications of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. The microphone bearing the Royal Crown is one of many produced for use across Canada during the tour of Their Majesties, and is specially designed for reduction of wind noise for use out-of-doors. The two oval shape microphones are gold plated and of the new Cardioid type which will be used to broadcast His Majesty's message of greeting on arrival at Quebec and on the occasion of the Empire Day Celebrations from Winnipeg.

Annual Hockey Meeting Friday Evening

Canadians Certain Starters in Alberta League—The Election of Officers

The annual meeting of the Canadians will be held in the council chamber at 7:30 Friday evening. The meeting has been called later than usual due to the uncertainty of the Alberta senior hockey picture regarding next year's league set-up.

President Harry Gardner will give a statement on last year's activities and also the important developments of the past week-end, which saw all teams with the exception of Drumheller lining up in a six-team league for next season.

Election of officers will be held at this meeting. Now that the hockey horizon has cleared, interest will mount to a new high locally, as players will be sought to strengthen the team in preparation for next winter. Secretary Fred Guerdin states he has received several letters from hockey players asking to be given a tryout. A large attendance is expected at the meeting.

GOOD LINES

Small Girl (to seven-year-old boy friend): "Oh, I think you're lots better looking than your daddy."

Boy (true child of the motor era): "Well, I thought he was a later model."

McBurney Vice-President Provincial Hockey League

H. C. McBurney was honored by the provincial hockey league by being nominated vice-president; D. P. McDonald was elected president and Bob Mamini secretary at a league meeting at Calgary on Sunday.

The assurance of a six-team league including Edmonton, Olds, Calgary, Turner Valley, Lethbridge and Coleman, was featured. Drumheller Miners were given one month to decide if they would come back into the league.

In Memoriam

BOWLING—In loving memory of A. G. Bowling, who fell asleep May 16, 1935.

Loving and kind in all his ways, Upright and just to the end of his days;

Sincere and true in heart and mind, Beautiful memories he left behind.

—Ever remembered by his loving family—Alice and Muriel.

Given One Year Sentence at Lethbridge Jail

Charged with non-support of his wife, W. S. Vollendorf, of Coleman, was sentenced to one year in Lethbridge jail by Fred Antrobus, J.P.

Vollendorf has resided in Coleman for a number of years, having acted as salesmen for a clothing company.

May Be Provincial Election This Year

Delay of By-Election of Stony Plain Strengthens Belief—W. D. Herdridge Will Speak in Edmonton

(CORRESPONDENT FROM T. B. WINSTON)

EDMONTON.—One convincing indication that the view that a general election is in the offing during 1939 is reasonable, is seen in the fact that the government is delaying as long as possible the naming of a day for a by-election in the Stony Plain constituency, where the seat was made vacant by the death of the Social Credit member. No by-election will be called there unless the general election can be postponed to 1940.

It is now realized by the Social Credit government that time is on the side of the opposition and that a quick, early election is about the only manoeuvre that will positively be likely to save the day. In other words, William Aberhart is beginning to fear "the handwriting on the wall."

Preparations for the forthcoming visit of Their Majesties the King and Queen to Edmonton are going ahead rapidly now. A long line of "bleachers" has been erected over the full length of Portage avenue on both sides, and other "bleachers" are being erected on Whyte Avenue and at other vantage points along the proposed route of the progress. It is expected that fully 200,000 people from all over the north and central parts of Alberta will be in Edmonton on June 2nd.

The government, after closing Government House to the King's representative, has been preparing a demonstration of loyalty. Large "Welcome" arches are being erected at the (To be continued on Page 5)

Large Attendance Expected at Sports Carnival

Will Raise Funds to Pay For Sports Field and Club Activities

Bustling activity has featured the erection of booths for the sports carnival at the arena during the week. The booths are now practically completed and it is expected work will be started to-night in decorating them.

All persons connected with, or interested in, the three organizations sponsoring the carnival are asked to be on hand Friday and Saturday evenings. A large number of men are needed to manage the various booths and it is necessary to secure all the help possible.

The race for carnival queen between the three contestants, the Misses Winnifred Mitchell, Ruth and Irma McLeod, has come into the home stretch and it is found Miss Mitchell, representing the baseball club, leads by fifty points. The standing on Wednesday evening was Winnifred Mitchell, 1610 votes, Irma McLeod, 1560 and Ruth McLeod, 1520. The winner receives a beautiful Bulova watch, with the runners-up receiving suitable awards.

Arcadians, the most popular orchestra in the Pass, will supply the music for the jitney dance and hundreds of dance lovers are expected to attend.

Mr. Thomas Clarke of Macleod was here over the week-end motoring from Macleod with Vernon Stott of the Barber-Ellis Company of Calgary.

Mr. James Bennie, of Lethbridge, well-known to many in the Pass towns, and at one time a resident of this district, was a visitor here on Monday.

The Churches

Fifth Sunday after Easter—10 a.m., Sunday School; 7 p.m., Evensong and Sermon. Read Ephesians 5:23-32.

Christ trained twelve men to be the nucleus of the "Church which He purchased with His own blood," and which St. Paul calls "the pillars and ground of the truth." In order to be fair in our judgment we should ask ourselves what our Lord planned the Church to be and not to fault it if it fails to do other things which men require of it. It was to be the witness of our Lord's life and teaching, to be the instrument to transmit His blessings to men, to be a temple of worship; a household of fellowship; a haven to permeate society, but not to dominate; a refuge from sin, and an anchor of hope.—Exch.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

Sunday school at 11 a.m. Morning worship 12 noon; message will be on the subject: "The Spiritual Challenge of Motherhood;" special music. Street meeting 6:30 p.m., on the corner of Main street in front of Coleman hotel. Evangelistic service at 7:30; this service will be a special service paying tribute to the mothers of Coleman; an appropriate program is being arranged by Miss Thomson, including recitations, dialogues, special songs and solo numbers.

Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.—Prayer meeting. Friday at 7:30 p.m.: Bible study. Rev. and Mrs. D. Svarth stopped in at the Mission on business on their way to the States, where they will attend several conferences and assemblies of the church.

Pat finished work at the pit. When he put on his coat he noticed his mates laughing at him. Wondering what was wrong, he took it off again and saw a donkey's head chalked on it. "Begorra," he exclaimed, "some smart lad had dried his face on my coat!"

Worth Investigating

If statements made by George A. Hurst of Regina, as they appear in pamphlet entitled "Savaging the Hudson Bay Route", which has recently been widely distributed by the On-to-the-Bay Association, are well founded, it would appear that it is high time Western Canadians gave some attention to allegations that the route is being throttled and gave some consideration to a resolution recently passed by the Association.

The resolution to which reference is made reads:

"That this Association go on record as being in favor of the principle of Western Canada management of the commercial facilities of the Port of Churchill, and that they should be brought under the control and management of a Western organization in conjunction with the provincial governments of Saskatchewan and Manitoba."

In preferring his charges that the route is being undermined and rendered ineffective, partly because of lack of knowledge or indifference on the part of some who should have the western farmers' interests at heart and partly because the grain trade, in conjunction with remote officialdom is hedging the use of the route with impossible restrictions, Mr. Hurst should know where he speaks for during most of the construction period and the entire time the port has been in operation up to January, 1938, he resided and worked at Churchill as accountant for the Dominion government.

It is perhaps significant that, while the On-to-the-Bay Association disclaims any responsibility for the correctness of the statements and charges made by Mr. Hurst in his pamphlet, the Association evidently considers them of sufficient importance to warrant wide publicity for them by making arrangements for distribution of the pamphlet and by pointing out that although the contents were published earlier in a series of articles "as far as we are aware no one has come forward to dispute the truth of the statements made."

Inquiry Desirable

The fact that Mr. Hurst was in a peculiarly favorable position to secure the information on which he bases his premises, coupled with the sponsorship of the pamphlet by the On-to-the-Bay Association, an organization which has carefully steered clear of politics in its activities, indicates the desirability of an inquiry being made into the method of operating the route, with a view to some change in the form of management of the port and its facilities if such investigation shows that the efficiency of the route is being sterilized by counter interests and the interests of the producers are not being protected.

When it is remembered that over fifty million dollars has been invested in the Hudson Bay railway and the Port of Churchill and its facilities and that, if Mr. Hurst is correct, the great bulk of the cost was borne by the west, no stone should be left unturned to see that the western interests in this large expenditure is protected, and that it be made to yield the return which was expected of it during the half century right to establish a short and direct export and import route between the prairies and the European countries.

If the port is being allowed to languish and the route to die of inanition, as Mr. Hurst claims when he speaks of it as the "starved and unwanted child" with specific details to support it, then no time should be lost in taking whatever steps may be necessary to revitalize the route and, if possible, to make it the important and effective artery it was intended to be.

Interesting Suggestions

Any person who reads the pamphlet with care cannot fail to be impressed with the background of knowledge of his subject apparently displayed by Mr. Hurst and the apparent prima facie case which he makes out for a change in the administration of the port and its facilities and other proposals designed to cheapen the use of the route and enable it to return greater dividends to prairie producers and Western business.

Not the least interesting of Mr. Hurst's statements are contained in the chapter devoted to freight rates, in which he contends that the average rate on the Great Lakes from 1932 to 1937 was 4½ cents compared with an average of 8½ cents before Churchill entered the lists as a competitor.

If the figures are correct there seems to be some foundation for the assumption that, even though only a small fraction of the crop was handled through the Bay route during that period, the very existence of this alternative artery had an important bearing on the returns to the farmer for the entire crop in that six-year period, provided the savings were returned to the producer.

On this basis, what might happen to rates on the Great Lakes were the Bay route to be rendered a negative factor and the Port of Churchill closed up as "a white elephant" is a subject for interesting speculative thought.

Even if some of Mr. Hurst's claims could not be established, the suggestion that the administration of the port be turned over to a body of Westerners, who could be relied upon, not only to stem stagnation or worse, but actively to promote business for the Hudson Bay route seems to be a rational one. After all, the west is the parent of the project and could surely be depended upon to nourish the youngster much better than a foster mother.

King George Opens Hospital

Children's Wings Bear Names Of The Two Royal Princesses

The King opened the new Westminster Hospital in London, and, in reply to an address on behalf of the governors of the institution, said the new buildings "incorporate the latest improvements in hospital planning and technique." His Majesty announced that the children's wings of the new hospital will bear the names of his daughters and be known as "Princess Elizabeth Wing" and "Princess Margaret Rose Wing."

A New Industry

Iceland Spar Is Being Developed In South-West Africa

A new industry—the production of Iceland Spar—is being developed in South-West Africa, the former German colony which is now held by the Union of South Africa.

Iceland Spar was discovered in the territory in 1926. It is a crystal which has wide uses in the manufacture of optical instruments, television sets, color photography apparatus, laboratory instruments, periscopes and range-finding devices.

Reserves are said that South-West Africa would be able to fulfill the requirements of the entire world.

There are estimated to be 290 radio sets in operation for each 1,000 residents of the United States.

Visible Gold Stock

More Than Half Of All Gold Held In United States

The United States held 58 per cent. of the visible gold stock in the world at the end of 1938, the economic study service of the League of Nations reported.

An increase of $175,000,000 in American gold reserves holdings during the year resulted largely from gold shipments from Europe during international tension.

Holdings in the British stabilization fund, declined one-half during the six months ending last September 30. An additional "considerable reduction" occurred in the last three months of the calendar year.

Germany was reported to have fortified her gold reserve in March 1938, by obtaining public and private holdings in Austria with the absorption of that country. Japan's gold reserve was "completely exhausted" in July, 1938.

SELECTED RECIPES

JELLY PANCAKES

1½ cups sifted Swans Down Cake Flour
1½ teaspoons Calumet Baking Powder
1½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon sugar
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons melted butter or other shortening
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Combine egg yolks and milk; add gradually to flour, beating only until smooth. Add shortening. Fold in egg whites. Bake on hot, greased griddle. Spread with jelly and roll, or serve rolled around braised sausage or bacon. Makes about seven 7-inch pancakes.

FRUIT PIE, NEW STYLE

2 cups very finely crushed Shredded Wheat Flakes (3-4 biscuits)
1 tablespoon cinnamon
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup melted butter
5 cups drained cooked dried apricots
2 egg whites
Combine the Shredded Wheat crumbs, cinnamon and ½ cup of the sugar, add the butter, and mix well. Pat 1½ cups of this braised sauce in pie pan and bake 15 minutes in a hot oven of 400 degrees F. Cool slightly. Arrange the fruit in the lined pie plate, and top with a meringue made by beating the egg whites until stiff, then adding the remaining ½ cup sugar, while continuing to beat. Top with the remaining crumb mixture. Bake in a slow oven of 300 degrees F. until set and delicately browned. Cool. Makes one 9-inch pie. Serves six.

British Navy Not Asleep

Five Old Fighting Ships Converted Into First Class Units

Anyone who thinks the British navy has fallen asleep behind a few batteries of obsolete guns may have a rude awakening if the theory is ever tested.

Newspapers of the world listed the building of the treaty cruisers Berwick, Kent, Cornwall, Cumberland and Suffolk, the cumbersome, weakly-armed fighting ships adopted by all the great powers. But it is not generally known that these "obsolete" ships, dating back to 1927, all have been converted into strongly armed, fast and heavily protected battle units in the last three years. Each now carries two amphibian fighting planes in addition to heavier guns and more torpedo tubes.

The Berwick has just gone out to be flagship of the American and West India station. She carries eight eight-inch guns; eight four-inch anti-aircraft guns on high angle mountings with range of 45,000 feet; four three-pounder pom-poms for anti-aircraft defence; and eight 21-inch torpedo tubes mounted in funnels. She also has added side and deck protection.

The Berwick overhaul cost more than $3,000,000. That will give some idea of what has been done with these five cruisers. It does not draw as much attention as launching five new battleships, but it is almost as effective.

Police Dog Made Good

Turned In Next Job On First Assignment For R.C.M.P.

The newest member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in Nova Scotia, trained police dog, turned in a neat job on its first assignment. The dog found two young Indian boys a few hours after they strayed away from the Indian school at Schubenacadie about 440 miles from Halifax.

When the boys were reported missing, the police were called in. A piece of clothing of one of the boys gave the dog the scent and it started into the dense woods back of the school. The first young was found about 6½ miles from the building.

After the dog was returned to the school for a rest, it picked up the scent of the second young from one of his shirts. It followed the original trail for five miles, then branched off and at a distance of three and a half miles farther on the other boy was discovered.

The dog, a 20-month-old Doberman Pinscher, is one of 33 used by police in Canada. It was trained at the Regina headquarters.

Palestine Question

Manifesto Urges Arabs To Lay Down Their Arms

Arab circles reported King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia and the regent of Iraq were issuing a manifesto urging Palestine Arabs to lay down their arms in their conflict with Great Britain over Holy Land rule. It was hoped by its sponsors that the manifesto, addressed to the exiled Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, Haj Amin Effendi Ali Hussein, would pave the way for Arab acceptance of British proposals for settlement of the Palestine question. ## Women's Institutes

Splendid Work Being Carried On In The Rural Areas

The reports which are being presented at the annual meetings of different branches of the Women's Institutes throughout the surrounding territory make it clear that these organizations, which represent one of Canada's greatest contributions to rural welfare and improvement, have not lost their zest for service which has been an important part of their activities since the time of their establishment.

All over Ontario, in cross-roads centres as well as in villages and sometimes fairly large towns, the Women's Institutes are continuing to devote themselves with all the vigor and resources at their command to betterment of conditions in the communities in which they are situated. They are doing so, not with the idea of benefiting themselves or gaining publicity for the movement with which they are connected, but to the end that the villages or other centres in which they are established may be better and happier places in which to live.

Life in many a rural centre has been all but transformed in consequence of the operation of an active and devoted institute and what has been accomplished by these organizations frequently puts the efforts of men belonging to the same communities to shame. Brockville Recorder and Times.

Getting Back To Normal

Canada's Clothing Industry Making Good Recovery From Slump

A person can do without new clothes more easily than without food. Hence a depression hits the clothing industry hard; how hard, a report just issued by the Dominion bureau of statistics indicates. The women's factory clothing industry, which of course supplies only part of the clothes Canadian women wear, but which also produces children's clothing, had an output in 1929 worth nearly $66,500,000 factory value. By 1932 production had fallen to $42,500,000. But from then on, it increased every year until in 1937 it exceeded $66,500,000, nearly all for home consumption as exports of wearing apparel total only $2,500,000.

The men's factory clothing industry suffered even more from the depression, its output dropping from $50,500,000 factory value, in 1929 to but little more than $28,000,000 in 1932. But by 1937 it was up to $45,250,000.

The combined factory output of the two industries in 1937 was thus $105,750,000, and more than $100,000,000 of that production was in the two central provinces. — Toronto Star Weekly.

LEFT THE ARMY WITH RHEUMATISM

Now Fit To Join Again

Twenty years ago, he left the army, contipated and rheumatic. Today, he is fit and nimble—a merry, romping granddad, 61 years young.

"I came out of the army with rheumatism," he writes. "It was especially bad in my feet. I started taking Kruschen Salts, and in a few months I found relief from my rheumatism. I became nimble on my feet. Now, at 61—weighing 168—I am cheerful, energetic, and always ready to play with my grandchildren." — F.E.B.

Many people grow old long before their time because they neglect one vital need of health—the need for internal cleanliness. Eventually, they adopt the healthy Kruschen habit. Then, probably for the first time in their lives, they start getting rid every day of waste matter from the system. The result is renewed health and vigour. Allments due to a clogged system vanish, youth returns, and life becomes really worth living.

Stone Instead Of Steel

Germany Building Bridges On Pattern Of Ancient Rome

Germany, in its drive for self-sufficiency, has revived the ancient Roman style of bridge building to save steel in highway construction.

Dr. Bruno Wehner, of the German Bureau of Public Roads, told how almost all the bridges for the Reich's "autobahnen", arterial superhighways, were being built of natural stone, just as in the days of the Romans.

The Harvard-educated highway engineer is a member of a commission of Reich traffic and auto experts which has recommended that the United States to buy American automobile motors—"because they are far superior" to anything in Europe.

Some of the natural stone speedway bridges, Dr. Wehner revealed, were 300 feet high and one spanned a river 2,400 feet across with 16 sweeping arches.

"They cost two to three times as much to build as the steel and concrete spans," he said. "However, not only has a shortage of steel been overcome, but they are actually a better investment. They'll outlast the modern type just as the old Roman roads have outlasted subsequent counterparts."

In addition, he pointed out, the construction of a natural stone span could be carried out in all types of weather whereas this was not true of steel-and-concrete projects.

See In Italian-German Solidarity A Blow To Non-Aggression Bloc

London.—Announcement Italy and Germany had decided to become allies in a formal military pact was interpreted here as a blow against the British-French non-aggression bloc.

It crushed lingering hopes in some British quarters of driving a "wedge" between the axis partners by weaning Italy away from her friendship with Germany.

At the same time there were unofficial reports of a possible breakdown in the prolonged negotiations between Britain and Soviet Russia designed to bring the Soviet Union into the French-British line-up.

The Italian-German decision came at a delicate stage in negotiations between London and Moscow.

Britain sent a note to Moscow answering what was said to be Russia's demand that Britain and France join her in a triple alliance. Unofficial reports here said Britain refused to go that far and offered that the three powers guarantee central and southern Europe's small states against aggression.

Of reports Germany might demand a plebiscite in her dispute with Poland over the Free City of Danzig, it was said in informed British quarters it would be up to Poland to decide what stand to take.

Britain, following her pledge to aid Poland in defence of any threat against her independence, has insisted it is for Poland alone to decide when her independence is threatened. But since Danzig is more than 90 per cent German, some observers expressed belief Britain might urge Poland to try to conciliate in the event hostilities threatened over the issue.

Announcement of the increasing Italian-German solidarity, made at Milan, Italy, was seen as an indication Reichsfuehrer Hitler would have Premier Mussolini's full backing in his demands on Poland for return of Danzig to Germany.

London's negotiations with Turkey on a defensive pact, meanwhile, were reported to have progressed rapidly, but it was believed no announcement of a formal agreement would be made at least until conclusion of British-Russian conversations.

Following talks in Ankara, Turkey and Russia announced formally they would "strengthen the bonds linking them."

Britain's negotiations with Russia were reported unofficially to have been embarrassed by hints from several countries that they would have to "consider their position" if London entered into a full alliance with Moscow.

Among them were rumored to be Spain and Japan members of the anti-Comintern pact but not known to be bound to the Rome-Berlin axis by any military alliance, as well as Portugal and some Latin American states.

Will Bonus Land

Britain Has Scheme To Bring 250,000 Acres Into Production

London.—Sir Reginald Dorman-Smith, minister of agriculture, announced in the house a bonus scheme to bring 250,000 acres of pasture land into production. A bonus of about $9.35 an acre will be paid for grass land ploughed up in 1939.

The idea behind the bonus scheme is to increase the arable land of the country so that in wartime it could be used to grow essential foods. Elaborate plans have been drafted on wartime agricultural production, Sir Reginald said, but they could not be put into operation in advance of war. Meanwhile the bonus scheme would increase arable land as an essential first step.

Sir Reginald said steps have been taken "to enroll persons willing to work on the land in the event of war, and intensive training courses are being planned."

"Reserves of fertilizers have been secured and plans made to reorganize the distribution of fertilizers, feeding stuffs, tractors and other machinery, fuel, implements, seeds and other requisites for war time."

Alaska Highway

Public Hearings To Be Held In B.C.

Ottawa.—Public hearings will be held in British Columbia late in June by the commission appointed by the government to investigate practicability and desirability of a highway from United States through British Columbia and the Yukon to Alaska.

Hon. Charles Stewart, committee chairman, said. The commission will visit northern British Columbia and its engineering members will fly over the proposed route to study general character of the land. Public hearings will be held in Prince George and Hazelton, B.C., and in Whitehorse, Yukon Territory, to give local citizens an opportunity to express their views.

Soviet Russia's Course In Its Foreign Policy Remains Uncertain

Moscow.—Joseph Stalin took a stronger grip on Soviet Russia's foreign policy through displacement of Maxim Litvinov, noted internationalist, by Premier Vyacheslav Molotov as commissar of foreign affairs.

The shake-up put Stalin's "right hand" on the helm of foreign policy and removed a proponent of collective security who long has been under attack by the Rome-Berlin axis.

It stirred the axis to jubilant exclamations and brought new uncertainty to Great Britain and France. But only the Kremlin knew how far the Soviet course in international politics might be changed by Premier Molotov's assumption of the foreign commissariat in the midst of attempts to align Russia with the anti-aggression countries headed by Britain and France.

Molotov, who speaks only Russian and is regarded as an ardent nationalist, is in sharp contrast to Litvinov, a man of many languages and a veteran figure at Europe's council tables.

Litvinov's future was a question mark. Some other men who have been released suddenly from high Soviet posts at their "own request" have disappeared.

Silence of Soviet officials as to the significance of Litvinov's displacement as foreign commissar heightened the impression in diplomatic circles of imminent crucial developments.

Soviet newspapers devoted a few lines to announcements of the man who for close to 20 years has played an important part in Russia's relations with other nations.

Embassies and legations were wide apart on their interpretations of this latest move, coming in the midst of delicate Anglo-Russian negotiations on a new European anti-aggression line-up. But one foreign diplomat said: "Whatever this means, it is the biggest thing that has happened in Moscow for years."

Some diplomats believed it meant probably a shift toward friendlier relations with Germany or at least toward a neutrality which would be welcome to Germany.

Others took the opposite view that Moscow is on the verge of aligning itself so definitely with the nations against Hitler's Reich that Molotov, one of the inner circle of Soviet leadership, has been chosen to conclude the deal. Litvinov was not in the inner circle.

The appointment of Molotov was given front page prominence by Moscow morning papers, without comment. A four-line item on back pages reported Litvinov had asked to be relieved of the post.

The announcement said he had been "released from his duties at his own request"—the same words used last September in announcing the departure of Nikolai Yezhov from his post of commissar of internal affairs. Yezhov was retained as commissar of water transport.

British Foreign Policy

Anthony Eden Wants To See More Far Reaching Agreement With France And Russia

Leamington, Eng.—Anthony Eden told his constituents "it must be a gain to peace" if an understanding can be arrived at between this country, France and Russia, and the sooner, the more complete, and the more far-reaching that agreement, be the better.

In his address the former, foreign secretary supported the Chamberlain government's present foreign policy but urged that Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty and minister of munitions during the Great War, be invited into the cabinet.

His views also were expressed in the preface to a collection of his most important speeches in which he wrote that "at best, the world now enjoys no more than uneasy respite between successive acts of violence." The book, "Foreign Affairs," is to be published in Great Britain. It covers his speeches from 1924 until Dec. 9, 1937, when he spoke in New York.

"The nations," he wrote, "must either accept and support the authority of some international order or they will destroy each other utterly. There is no middle course."

Unwritten Rule Invoked

Reference To Governor-General In House Of Commons Banned

Ottawa.—The unwritten rule against use of the name of the King or his representative to influence debate was invoked in the House of Commons.

Hon. P. E. Casgrain, the speaker, ruled Joseph Needham (S.C., The Battlefields) could not quote from "A Prince of Captivity," written by Lord Tweedsmuir, the governor-general, to bolster his argument that control of currency and credit should be in the hands of the government.

Mr. Needham attempted to give the quotation as coming from John Buchan, the governor-general's family name, but Speaker Casgrain ruled him still out of order.

There is a written standing order of the commons that "no member shall speak disrespectfully of His Majesty, nor of any of the royal family; nor of the governor or person administering the government of Canada."

Import Control System

France Is Changing Existing Trade Measures With Japan

Paris.—Japan's export trade to France and her possessions was placed under strict control by a decree, which was effective May 10, barring Japanese merchandise unless it carries a special certificate issued in Japan by French consular agents or the French commercial attaché.

The decree, published in the official gazette, was promulgated under powers voted President Daladier's government by the French parliament.

Merchandise proven to have been shipped from Japan before May 10 will be permitted to enter French territory under prevailing regulations.

Authoritative French quarters said the move was essentially a commercial regulation, substituting an import control system for the existing trade measures.

Alberta Tar Sands

Sees A Source Of Oil For The British Navy

Winnipeg.—Tar-sands of the McMurray district in Alberta, 250 miles northeast of Edmonton, contain enough heavy oil to supply the British empire for 100 years if the oil could be rid of sand and mixed with the fine oil produced in Turner Valley, according to A. Van Hammerstein, veteran oil operator at McMurray.

The result of a mixture of heavy oil from McMurray with Turner Valley fine oil would be suitable for use in the British navy, he added.

Plans Western Trip

Lord Tweedsmuir To Visit Peace River District This Summer

Ottawa.—Canada's governor-general plans to spend a few days fishing in the maritime while the King and Queen are journeying eastward on their royal trip.

Accompanied by Lady Tweedsmuir, His Excellency expects to leave early in June for the maritimes where they will be guests of friends at a small Nova Scotia fishing camp before leaving for Halifax to bid Their Majesties farewell, June 15.

Later in the summer Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir will go to Churchill, Man., to meet their son, Hon. John Buchan, who will arrive in the Nascopee from Cape Dorset, where he has been stationed in the past two years with the Hudson's Bay Company.

Together with their son, Their Excellencies will journey westward and plan to spend some time in the Peace River district, one of the few parts of northern Alberta Canada's governor-general has not seen.

Discounts War Talk

Convinced Europe Will Solve Problems By Peaceful Means

Rome.—Roumania's foreign minister, Grigore Gafencu, said his tour of five major capitals had convinced him Europe would solve its problems without war.

His statement was made after conversations with Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Ciano. Previously he had conferred with government officials in London, Paris, Berlin and Warsaw.

"On one thing I found all agree," Gafencu said, "and that was that war would mean everyone's ruin."

The Roumanian added, however, that while he had found a common dislike of war he had discovered "each of the countries had a different idea of what peace meant."

"Europe's problems meet sharply but I am convinced they can be solved by peaceful means," he said. "The first requirement is to reach a common understanding of what peace means."

Polish Independence

Italy Convinced That Poland Should Survive As Nation

Rome.—Italy is convinced Poland should survive as a nation and desires amicable settlement of the German-Polish dispute, Fascist quarters said in comment on conversations opening at Lake Como between Foreign Minister Benito Mussolini and German Foreign Minister Count Ciano of Italy.

These sources indicated Italy would have little enthusiasm for a war provoked by Germany's demand for annexation of Danzig and would do everything it could to localize such a conflict, but would feel bound to join its axis partner if Great Britain and France were to put into effect their guarantees to Poland.

Declares That West Had No Aid From Ottawa Before 1935

Ottawa.—Western Canada need offer no apology for accepting assistance for its grain growers in times of difficulty, Hon. H. G. Gardiner, minister of agriculture, said in the House of Commons as he moved second reading of his acreage bonus bill.

"Wheat growing is the only part of Canadian agriculture which has paid its way as far as governmental activities are concerned right down to 1935," said the minister.

Practically every other branch of Canadian agriculture and every other industry had received federal government assistance down through the years but wheat growers had received none. The government spent $3,000,000 a year on the livestock industry. Manufacturers received tariff protection, subsidies were paid on coal, freight rates and on steel production.

Hon. R. J. Manion, Conservative leader, questioned wisdom of the government mentioning a price for wheat to be paid by the wheat board at 90 cents a bushel and wheat at 70 cents in its legislation so early in the year. He feared the world might take this as an indication of the value the Canadian government placed on wheat. He urged development of a long range plan—not an emergency plan just for western Canada and not too costly to all Canada. Such plan should be worked out in consultation with farmers' organizations.

Mr. Gardiner said as the wheat market now stood Hon. Charles Dunning's budget estimate of $25,000,000 for the acreage bonus loss on last year's crop would probably be close. The government, however, was asking parliament to vote $27,000,000 this year for unemployment relief which was nothing more than maintenance of labor for the benefit of industry until such time as more labor was required.

If it was right to maintain labor in the cities in time of depression surely it was no special concession to the west to maintain farmers on their land and so keep up the great wheat growing industry which in the past had brought great wealth to Canada.

Mr. Gardiner took issue with other western spokesmen who, he said, looked on wheat legislation as compensation for the tariff protection accorded eastern industry. The cost of the tariff was borne by farmers in all parts of Canada and not by western farmers alone.

In 1928 the fixed price operated as a bonus and was attended by all the difficulties of 1931-32, accentuated three or four times because the margin between the fixed price and the market price ran to 15 or 20 cents a bushel.

"It is the inequalities of payments of bonus under that act (the wheat board act) which have led the government to decide there should be a change in the method," said Mr. Gardiner.

"I am not going to advocate that the average farmer should get less than 80 cents for his wheat but the farmer for the last 30 years has been receiving an average price of 95 cents for No. 1 Northern wheat. I am not in favor of setting up any system which will obtain any less for the farmer over the next 30 years."

Mr. Gardiner quoted Prof. E. C. Hope of the University of Saskatchewan, speaking before the Bracken markets conference, that the cost of wheat production on the Regina plains, the best wheat land in the west, was 58 cents a bushel on a half-section (320 acres) farm, 44 cents on a one-section farm and 54 cents on a two-section power farm, all on an average yield of 20 bushels an acre.

The two-section power farm was the most efficient unit but not more than one-third of western farmers were as efficient as that.

Prof. Hope had calculated if the farmer was going to pay debts off, present prices would barely pay the cost of living. The price level, though, would certainly not maintain a "reasonable level of living," the minister said. "No wonder it permit building up a home and equipment."

That was essential but those were not the things done during the depression, but in years of better prices.

Prof. Hope had estimated a farm of 80 cents for average grades of wheat would be necessary to maintain a reasonable standard of living. To restore the farms to their 1931 condition would require much higher price.

Defence Purchasing Board Bill Has Stormy Passage In Senate

Ottawa.—A vigorous last ditch stand against the government's defence purchasing board bill featured its passage through third reading in the senate.

Severe strictures were directed against the government. Its proposals limiting non-compulsive armament contract profits to five per cent, were compared with current departmental contracts yielding a considerably higher figure.

Moving third reading, Senator Raoul Dandurand, government leader, declared both the finance and defence department officials had assured him the projected purchasing board would be able to administer the bill to protect the treasury and "at the same time give compensation to the contractors." One of the features of the measure is a limitation of profits of five per cent of the capital employed on a contract.

Several minor amendments were made in the bill by the senate and it will be returned to the commons again. The lower house previously had passed it.

The government leader told Senator Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, that he could have informed himself of the means the government would employ when Dr. W. C. Clark, deputy minister of finance, was before the senate banking committee. Meanwhile the senate had placed on the government the responsibility for that feature of the bill and the government had accepted it.

He had no expert evidence to offer, continued Senator Dandurand, but experience would show how the measure was to be operated. If war came the fears voiced by Mr. Meighen would disappear, and the War Measures Act brought into play. Under that legislation the country could take charge of "any institution" it needed for defence of Canada. This statute could become operative by proclamation in event of war being "real or apprehended."

While he had no hope of convincing the government, there was still something to be done to let the country know "just the pantomime this government is going through," said Senator Meighen.

The country had been told the bill was to limit profits so manufacturers would not make money out of the industry. The bill had gone to a committee and several citizens had appeared to give evidence. These were men engaged in the business analogous to the manufacturers contemplated in the bill, some in the actual business itself.

All had explained that the five per cent limitation reduced itself to four per cent, when other elements incorporated in the bill were taken care of. Where contracts ran for two years, the actual profit would be two per cent.

"No human being who has a right to be at large will enter into a contract where all the risks are his and he can only make the bank interest on the money he had to borrow," said Senator Meighen.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

THE visit of Canada's king and queen will in addition to strengthening the ties of Empire, have a very practical value in stimulating business. The money to be spent in according a welcome will provide additional employment in almost every line of business and industrial activity.

HERE and there one notices criticism on expenditures in connection with the royal visit, but a little reflection will show that after all it is the spending of money that provides employment. It is the hoarding of it that increases unemployment.

THE Bowmanville Statesman is a weekly newspaper published in the town of that name in Ontario. It is one of Eastern Canada's finest weeklies, and has been established for almost a century. It improves with age, as does its owner, George W. James, who is past president of Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association. The paper has been owned by the James family almost since its inception, and three generations have taken a hand in its production. Last week it was awarded the Pearce trophy for the best editorial page in Ontario and Quebec weeklies at the annual convention of the Ontario-Quebec division of the C.W.N.A. at Ottawa. Weeklies of this type play an important part not only in their immediate communities, but in the life of the Dominion, for their influence spreads far beyond the districts in which they are published.

FREQUENTLY it is noticed that courtesy is forgotten by many once they get behind the steering wheel of an automobile. An otherwise polite person who wouldn't think of trying to bump you off a street crossing if he met you on foot appears to think that behind a steering wheel he can get away with near murder, for often he will fail to slow up and not until he is almost upon the hapless pedestrian will he sound his horn. Lessons in courtesy are so badly needed by many motorists. If there were more courtesies, there would be less accidents. Driving at a furious pace to go nowhere is often observed on the streets. As the Indian remarks, why does the white man rush around in such a hurry, and what does he do when he arrives? Ask us another!

A MOVEMENT is in progress of development to organize those who are in favor of the election of an independent candidate in the next provincial election. Electors of the newly-organized constituency of Pincher Creek-Crows Nest Pass have heard many rumblings of dissatisfaction over the non-fulfilment of pre-election promises made in 1935, of the failure to reduce taxes or increase purchasing power. Rather the reverse has happened, while the government has handed out nothing but propaganda to strengthen its own position merely to retain office at the expense of the electors.

THOUGH the premier and his henchmen try to tell the people they are better off under a Social Credit government than under any other form of government, there is nothing to substantiate the statement. The blandishments and soft-soaping the reading of letters during Sunday broadcasts from supposed supporters of Social Credit and other wiles employed to keep up the delusion of Aberhart's promised heaven on earth, are not being accepted with the docility that was so prevalent in 1935. The bubble has burst. Gone are the beautiful colors of the rainbow, or the soap bubble. Electors now are beginning to look for leadership towards a return to sane and business-like administration of provincial affairs. Can Pincher Creek and Crows Nest Pass produce the man who can fill the requirements? That is the purpose of calling a meeting the date of which will probably be announced by the time this appears in print or shortly after.

PREMIER Aberhart never gives the names of parties writing letters for him to read over the radio. One strongly suspects they are the work of propagandists of the Social Credit party, probably inspired by headquarters. That letter on Sunday about earmarked bills and a slush fund was too crude to be true. Yet another method of fooling the people, as they were fooled in 1935 by promises of dividends, just prices and a new factory every week for Alberta.

ALTHOUGH the musical festival of 1939 is but a memory, there are some incidents that one recalls with a smile. One in particular is those supposed "request numbers." We have attended various festivals, but being one of the crowd, we never had the boldness to ask for a request number, (we would not anyhow) neither have we discovered anybody among the audiences asking for them. Our impression always has been that once you have heard a competitor, that is sufficient. The competitor has had his, or her, chance, and probably the audience is quite well satisfied to let it go at that.

THE last night of the festival was the outstanding "show" of the three days. Yet two "request numbers" were given (heaven only knows who did the "requesting") that made one doubly weary after sitting for a couple of hours without having a good stretch. If the popularity of the festival is to be maintained, we would suggest cutting out "requests," for no matter how musically inclined one may be, it must be remembered that people go to be entertained as well as educated in the art of music, and with the repetitions that are unavoidable in festival adjudication, there is no sense in adding to monotony by recalling someone to sing or play who has already been heard. Still we are in the dark as to who makes the "requests."

On Addressing Their Majesties

Modes of address to be practised by persons who may be required to speak with Their Majesties during the royal visit have been outlined recently. "There is no formula for formal presentations. Their Majesties should be treated in exactly the same way as Their Excellencies the Governor-General and his consort. The King should be addressed as 'Sir,' but it is usual to say 'Your Majesty' once. The Queen should be addressed at 'Ma'am' (not Madam). It is usual for gentlemen to bow by the inclination of the head when they meet Their Majesties and for ladies to curtsy just as they do when they meet the Governor-General.

CAME TO ROB BUT GAVE INSTEAD

His, said the ugly gunman, as he knocked the druggist down.
Deliver up your wad at once, before I crack your crown.
You needn't say you have no mon; I've watched an hour or more,
And more than fifty people came in and out your door.

It's true, my friend, the druggist groaned, as on the floor he lay.
That more than fifty people have been in my store this day.
But some come in to use the phone and some to ask the time,
And some to buy a postage stamp, and some to change a dime.

And some come in to meet their friends, and some their friends to bring.
To ask me for a calendar, or else a piece of string.
And some come in to leave the babe, while down the street they go
To buy from the department store—it's cheaper there you know.

And some come in to hear the news, and hand out sage advice
On how to run a drug store and treat the people nice.
And some—

Enough! Enough! the robber cried—yours is an awful calling.

I've in all my life have met a story so appalling.
Here—take my purse, I feel accursed to think I came near ending
The life of one whose only fun is every one befriending.

HE'S TOO MUCH OF AN EXTREMIST

Evidently we must be careful. We have been urging old folks to make way for youth. We have argued against old men who should have retired years ago, hanging on to their positions as presidents, or chairmen of boards, with all the tenacity of a porous plaster. But, the little story we read in The New Yorker disturbs us. It's about a little boy who had been delivering The Saturday Evening Post. One of his customers was an elderly patron who, after buying her copy of the magazine handed over milk and cookies to the youngster.

One Tuesday, however, he didn't appear. Instead, another little boy, at least two years younger, handed the lady her copy of the Post.

"Do you know the little boy who usually comes here?" he faltered. The lady's heart sank. Finally, mastering her emotions, she put her hands on the boy's shoulders and said gently, "Tell me, dear, has anything happened to the other little boy?"

"Well," said the cherub, looking hopefully at the milk and cookies, "nothing exactly happened to him, but he ain't comin' any more. He's retired."

The Salvation Army concert advertised to have taken place on Monday night last, was cancelled. The reason given is that Bellevue band uniforms had not arrived, and the concert will be held on a date to be announced, after the arrival of the uniforms.

Alwyn Haysom has successfully completed his four-year course in Pharmacy at Alberta University, and returned home last week. On Wednesday morning, in company with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. ### May Be Provincial

(Continued from Page 1) entrance on 109th street to the grounds of Parliament Buildings, and the legislative chamber has been redecorated, the white walls being painted and the highlights touched up with gold. Two life-sized portraits of the King and Queen have been painted for the government by Mr. Turner Taylor, an artist who has lived at Athabasca for some time, and will be hung on each side of the chamber along with the portraits of the late King George V and Queen Mary.

Political Edmonton is looking forward to the forthcoming visit of Hon. W. D. Herridge, former Canadian minister to Washington, who is in the west advocating his new democracy party. He is to speak in the city, but not under auspices of the Social Credit movement, despite William Aberhart's endorsement of Mr. Herridge's movement. Observers are taking note, in view of this endorsement, of the vital differences between the Herridge philosophy and that of Aberhart. The Herridge plan is to reconstruct the present capitalism, the Aberhart plan is to oust the present capitalism root and branch. It is unlikely, despite Aberhart's recent declaration, that basic dividends are not a basic principle of Social Credit, that there will be any real collaboration between the Alberta premier and Mr. Herridge, it is reported.

GOOD NEIGHBOURS

WHEN Mrs. Smith hands over the fence to Mrs. Angus a bowl of her very special soup and receives in return a dainty, hand-made cotton dress for her new little daughter, there's no disputing the fact that these women are good neighbours. Each is helpful to the other.

In just such a practical, literal way, Canadians, East and West, are useful to each other. Easterners rely on the Prairies for much of their food. They like the things made from Saskatchewan wheat. They give prizes to Manitoba butter. And they boast about Alberta beef.

In return for these good things to eat, Easterners, such as the 10,000 employees of Dominion Textile and its affiliates, supply excellent cotton and rayon goods. Both East and West need what the other produces. Each is useful to the other. They are good neighbours.

Part of Pass Highway To Receive Blotter Treatment

A statement made by Mr. Falow, minister of Public Works, at Edmonton this week reveals that 10 or 12 miles of the Crow's Nest Pass highway will be given blotter treatment this year.

The despatch stated "between Blairmore and Frank" but the 10 or 12 miles is expected to include Coleman to Bellevue.

But that bus has either got to have a larger door or I've got to have a smaller mother-in-law."

Football League Meeting at Michel on Sunday

A meeting of the C.N.P. football league will be held at Michel on Sunday at 2.30 p.m. Delegates from Blairmore, Coleman, Michel and Fernie will be present.

Michel will definitely give their decision on Sunday if they will enter the league or not. Bellevue is not likely to be represented as there seems to be little interest in the game in that town. Hillcrest is developing young players of school age but they lack the experience and finances to enter the league.

It is probable that a league schedule will be drawn up at this meeting and the league started within the next two weeks.

Homing Society Notes

The second old birds race was flown from Red Deer 184 miles airline on Sunday May 7. Liberated at 7.06 a.m. with a weather report of clear with strong west wind, the birds made good time, being clocked in as follows:

1. A. Zur 11:50:59 a.m.
2. M. Nemmett 11:51:50 a.m.
3. A. Biegum 11:52:01 a.m.

A. Zur's bird flew at a velocity of 1142 yards per minute.

Other lofts clocked in only seconds behind the winners, the good trappers evidently deciding the winners. Twelve lofts competed with 235 birds.

Prizes were donated by Coleman Co-Operative Store and W. Bobbitt's store.

The next race will be from Edmonton, Sunday, May 14. All birds to be at the C.P.R. depot at 12 noon, Saturday, May 13.

Mother's Day

Mother's Day will be observed in the usual way on Sunday morning at the United church. The congregation and the Sunday school will meet together at the regular hour for the morning service. The service will be arranged with Mother's Day as its main theme. There will be special features. It is hoped that the usual provision of flowers will be possible so that every mother present will receive a blossom. Parents are urged to be present with their children. There will be no regular session of the school and all children are asked to make an effort to be present. The evening service will be at the regular hour. All those having no other church home are cordially invited to keep Mother's Day with this congregation.

Bible Society Lecture on Friday

Attention is drawn to the lecture by Rev. Mr. Lytle of Calgary in the United church. The lecture is on "Ethiopia" and will be illustrated by lantern slides. Mr. Lytle writes to say that this lecture is proving very popular in his present tour of southern Alberta. In several places as many as 200 people have been present. There are many Coleman people who regularly help the work of the Bible Society. They are asked to bring any who will come with them to this lecture. The time is 7.30 p.m., Friday. The offering will be wholly devoted to the Bible Society. All congregations in the town should be well represented.

WORLD HAPPENINGS
BRIEFLY TOLD

Two Italian soldiers were reported to have deserted their infantry regiment posts and entered France to enlist in the Foreign Legion.

Harry Breedon of Weston, Ont., celebrated his 70th birthday on May 2 by stepping into an airplane and flying to Vancouver to visit his niece.

First to answer a call from Police Chief Tisdale for 1,000 men to act as special constables during the visit of the King and Queen to Niagara Falls, Ont., was an Italian citizen.

Sir Ernest MacMillan, principal of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, in an interview at Edmonton advocated national scholarships in Canada to aid impoverished musicians of exceptional talent.

Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary and newly promoted to the rank of major in the Territorial army, defended parliament's conscription decision as democratic and "expressing the nation's will."

Rosita Forbes, British author-explorer, announced she had bought an island in the British West Indies called Eleuthera, "eight miles from civilization," where she would make her home.

Japanese embassy officials announced opening in Shanghai of a new Japanese-controlled bank, called the Huasheng Commercial Bank, capitalized at 50,000,000 Shanghai dollars ($5,000,000).

Admiral Lord Chatfield, minister for co-ordination of defence, said that with her plans for conscription, Britain would have well over 1,000,000 men for empire defence without calling on reserves or the civilian defence services.

J. H. Ross, in charge of the Alberta program under the Dominion provincial youth training scheme, announced 40 new Alberta communities may have recreational centres next winter. Last winter 33 communities in Alberta entered training centres.

Interesting Speculation

Many European Thrones Have Been Offered To Englishmen

It is an interesting speculation whether the recent history of Eastern Europe might have been "written differently" had certain Englishmen been more ambitious—or less prudent. No fewer than three Britons—the late Lord Huxley, Sir Charles Watkin Hamilton, and the first Lord Inchcape—were offered the throne of Albania, and it was rumored some years ago that a good many Hungarians were prepared to nominate Lord Rothermere as their sovereign.

The first Marquis of Milford Haven, when still Prince Louis of Battenberg, was officially offered the crown of Bulgaria, and before Prince George of Denmark accepted the throne of Greece Gladstone was informed that it could be his "for the lifting of an eyebrow."—Manchester Guardian.

Walking Licences

Issued To South African Children Familiar With Traffic Laws

Walking licences are issued to children in Malvern West School, Johannesburg, South Africa, which is teaching its pupils to be "traffic-minded."

The licences are issued after an examination on the following subjects:

How to cross the street.
Playing on street.
Dangers of hanging on the backs of cars.
Giving other children lifts on a bicycle.

If a licensee-holder breaks any rule, he will be brought before a jury of pupils who can inflict penalties such as fines or endorse the culprit's license.

A Strange Cargo

Boat Docks At Halifax With Shipment Of Two-Headed Snakes

Every now and then a modern Noah's Ark arrives in Halifax with a cargo including from vagrant monkeys up, but the last straw was a shipment of two-headed snakes aboard the Rotterdam-Lloyds freighter Kota Intant. The snakes, known to naturalists as cylindrophorus rufus, are endowed with deluxe equipment consisting of an extra head appended to their body a short distance below their other head. The reptiles belong to A. Föehl, of Williamstown, N.Y.

Experiments have indicated that dull blue walls in operating rooms are helpful to the surgeon, causing less eye strain than white.

Ornithologists have determined that 800 distinct species, with 1,200 sub-species, of birds exist to-day.

Consider It Great Honor

New York Proud Of Being Intrusted With Magna Carta

Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine, guarded by 45 policemen, delivered one of the four original copies of the Magna Carta to the British pavilion at the New York World's Fair. Godfrey D. N. Haggard, British Consul General in New York, handed the historical document over to the Mayor and Commissioner Valentine at the British Consulate, 25 Broadway, and accompanied them to the Fair site in Flushing.

The document, lent to the British pavilion by the Dean and Chapter of Lincoln Cathedral, arrived in New York aboard the Cunard White Star liner Queen Mary. Signed by King John at Runnymede in 1215 at the insistence of his barons, the scroll is framed in a heavy case and protected by glass and a black shade.

"I wish to extend my sincere thanks to you, Mr. Mayor," said Sir Louis Beale, British commissioner general to the Fair, as the scroll was delivered, "for this guard of honor for the transportation of such a precious document. It is a treasure beyond price, and in this city and in this spot it is in the safest possible hands."

"It is a great honor to the Mayor, and to the Police Department to be intrusted with this great document," the Mayor replied. "Since 1215, it is through Magna Carta that no person is beyond the law and no person is subject to one man. It represents a basic principle of democracy and we are pleased that it has arrived safely."

As the document was turned over to the Mayor, 30 patrolmen, stood guard. The Mayor's car was escorted to the Fair grounds by 12 motorcycle patrolmen and two sergeants. The scroll will be displayed in the Hall of Democracy in the pavilion.

Helium-Oxygen Mixture

New Discovery Said To Assist Infants In Breathing

An infant lies gasping. With each effort to breathe, the child grows more and more tired. Soon he will stop trying entirely. If there were only some way to lessen the work those little lungs must do, there is a way, writes Dr. Norman Goldsmith in "The Scientific American."

If overtaxed lungs are allowed to breathe an oxygen-helium mixture, they need only do about half the work as if they were breathing ordinary air. In what conditions is the helium-oxygen mixture of use? Asthma, certain anesthesia mixtures, any obstruction of the air passages, and asphyxia of the newborn. If we take the infant who was struggling so pitifully, and place him in the helium mixture, his chest wall smooths out and he breathes comfortably.

Already the helium-oxygen mixture has been employed in New York, Washington, San Francisco, Boston, Cincinnati and the Mayo Clinic.

Small Cars

Methods Adopted In Britain To Cope With Increased Taxation

British tobacco and automobile manufacturers are planning so-called budget packages of cigarettes and even smaller cars to cope with increased taxes for rearmament.

At first it appeared the new cigarette tax would throw thousands of vending machines out of commission. They manufacturers decided to charge the same price for package of two less cigarettes.

The 25-shilling ($5.85) per horsepower tax on automobiles brought plans from at least five manufacturers for tiny cars. Some are said to develop about six horsepower with a top speed of 50 miles an hour, to get around 55 miles to the gallon. Some of the new cars will be in production about once.

Prove It Yourself

Glasgow Bulletin Has Worked Out An Interesting Problem

Some one asked me, says the Glasgow Bulletin, how long it would take to smoke a ton of cigarettes at the rate of a packet of 20 per day. I made a rough guess, and said 20 years. But I didn't reckon on the fact that it takes 365 cigarettes to make one pound. Actually the answer is 112 years 336 days, and the cost would be no less than £2,060. If you don't believe me, just work it out for yourself.

Nature's Water Bottles

Mother Nature's water bottles are formed when silica-impregnated water filters through rocks and fills cavities. Quartz crystals gradually line the walls of the cavity, and a miniature grotto is formed. So far, not one of the museum specimens has sprung a leak.

Gardening

Cultivation

Aside from the planning and planting, no early job compares in importance with cultivation. Authorities do not ask one to keep the hoe going all Summer, far from it. But they do request that the garden be dug once thoroughly first thing in the Spring, then cultivated once or twice afterwards. With proper tools the work need be no more than healthy exercise. For the purpose, there is nothing better than a little three or five fingered cultivator or a Dutch hoe. Either of these implements will make short work of a vegetable or flower garden. Cultivation serves a double purpose, it keeps down weeds and it conserves moisture.

Stone Walks

Particularly in the smaller garden where visitors and children soon wear grass thin along the edges of flower beds or between the house and the swing or arbor, regular paths are of very practical value. With a little care they will add beauty to the rest of the garden, too. Most pleasing material of all for this purpose is flagstones. These are broad, flat, thin slabs of any soft stone, usually found in abundance around certain river beds.

They are sunk flush with the ground so that the lawn mower will run over them, and at least an inch and a half of grass left between edges. Sometimes a little sand is placed under the stones for drainage.

Other walk materials are sand, cinder or brick.

When Transplanting

Experts point out that the secret of successful transplanting is plenty of water, when the job is done and for a week or so afterwards. The importance will be clear and stimulating. Moving a plant is something like an operation for a human being, and the larger the specimen the more necessary the attention. With shrubbery and trees often main roots are cut and the shock is severe.

HOME SERVICE

THE LIFE OF THE PARTY IF YOU CAN TAP DANCE

Learn to Tap in Home Lessons

A big hand at parties for the girl who knows a clever tap routine! "How does she do it?" everybody asks.

But those tricky numbers that win such "oh's" and "ah's" are just combinations of easy basic steps that you can teach yourself. Instructions diagrams tell you how to use your feet, fit your taps to music—as our picture shows.

See how easy you can do the three-tap combination that's illustrated. Hum a favorite waltz tune, time your taps to the three distinct beats in each measure.

1. Step on left foot.
2. Brush back of right foot forward, grazing the floor with a clear tap sound.

3. Hop on left foot.
In no time you pick up other basic taps—and have grand fun trying combinations making up your own. And in Johnny, show routines, you really go to town! Snap your fingers, clap your hands—the crowd will love your swing style.

Add to your good times! Our 32-page booklet has diagrams, directions for all the basic taps. Shows how to combine them in gay routines—waltz, military, buck-for parties, club shows.

Send 15c in coins for your copy of "Tap Dancing Simplified" to Home Service Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

The following booklets are also available at 15c in coins each:

Faster Planes Possible

Friction Of Air Passing Over Wings Can Be Reduced

Successful completion of an experiment which will add considerably to the speed of present day airplanes was announced at Langley Field, Va., by the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

For years scientists have tried to reduce the friction of air passing over wings in flight for both added speed and safety. The announcement said such friction or "drag" had been reduced by 65 to 75 per cent.

What that will mean in speed the director of research, Dr. George Lewis, declined to say, but reference was made to airplanes designed to "fly 400 to 500 miles an hour."

NEWEST SPRING-DAY FASHIONS

By Anne Adams

Here's the dress you want for those balmy days when you can go outdoors without a coat! Anne Adams has just designed Pattern 4073, making it so simple that even beginners will find it a pleasure to wear. There's seductive slits in every soft, flowing line! There's originality too (so that you'll know you won't meet your "double" in the next block!). See what an unusual neckline is formed by front fullness joining the yokes. These yokes are part of the bodice back. Indeed, as the Sewing Instructor shows, you have only six main pattern parts, counting both short and long sleeves. Trim with lace—and contrast belt, buttons and ribbon!

Pattern 4073 is available in misses' and women's sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 takes 3 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric and 2 1/2 yards lace edging; belt, 1/4 yard contrast.

Send twenty cents (20c) in coins (stamps cannot be accepted) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly: Size, Name, Address and Style Number, and send order to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

PAUL EVANGELIZES A PROVINCE

Golden text: But now in Christ Jesus ye that once were far off are made nigh in the blood of Christ. Ephesians 2:13.

Lesson: Acts 18:18-20, 28; Ephesians 2. Devotional reading: Ephesians 2:1-10.

Explanations and Comments

Paul's Labors in Ephesus, Acts 19: 1-20. It was when Apollo was in Corinth that Paul, after passing through the inland districts, came down to Ephesus (Moffatt's translation). On arriving at Ephesus, Paul followed his customary method of speaking first to the Jews in the synagogue. For three months he preached there, but instead of hearing his message the Jews "hardened their hearts."

As some grew stubborn and disobedient, deprecating the Way in presence of the multitude, he left them, withdrew his disciples, and continued his argument every day from eleven to three in the lecture room of Tyrannus (Moffatt's translation). Tyrannus was probably a Greek, and a school of philosophy, and Paul may have seemed to the Ephesians to be one of the wandering professors of philosophy who were so numerous in the city.

One important manuscript and certain other authorities add that Paul taught "from the fifth hour to the tenth." If this is an authentic detail, we have an interesting insight into Paul's habits of life and work. Ramsay points out that Paul taught "after business hours." Beginning work here sunrise was as was custom in all Ionian cities, Paul labored at his trade until the fifth hour, one hour before noon. The lecture room would not be in use after that hour, and instead of resting Paul taught for five hours following.

For two years Paul continued to teach in the school of Tyrannus, and "all that dwell in Asia heard the word of the Lord, both Jews and Greeks." Visitors to the city on their return carried news of the great preacher to every out-of-the-way corner of the province. Within easy reach of Ephesus were the other large cities, and during these years probably all the Seven Churches of Asia mentioned in Revelation 1:4, 11 were founded.

Special miracles wrought by Paul are recorded. Those who preached magical arts burned their books, and "mightily grew the word of the Lord and prevailed."

MILLIONS OF CHILDREN PROTECTED AGAINST DIPHTHERIA

Over three million adults and children in France, over two million in Canada, and over one million in the State of New York alone had, up to the end of 1935 been given toxoid as a preventive against diphtheria. Toxoid is universally believed to be innocuous even to the youngest child. Its powerful effect in the control of diphtheria has been proven over and over again.

Dr. Jules Renault of Paris says that toxoid is successful in the prevention of diphtheria in 96 to 98 per cent. of cases.

Diphtheria is disappearing from France. It has practically disappeared from the French army because every soldier is compelled to be toxoided. It is rapidly disappearing from the cities and country districts because every child on entering school must present a certificate of immunity. Fifty years ago there were 1,500 deaths a year from diphtheria in Paris, whereas in 1937 there were but 87 deaths, the mortality having dropped from eighty to less than three per hundred thousand of population. Toxoid against diphtheria is compulsory not only in France but also in Hungary, Rumania, Poland and in the city of Geneva, Switzerland.

Because of the use of toxoid on this side of the Atlantic, Canada and the United States are eliminating diphtheria. Fourteen of the smaller Canadian cities where toxoid has been in use, have been free of diphtheria deaths for periods of five to 10 years. Other and larger cities have been remarkably free for long periods.

If, year by year, the rising generation of children are protected by the use of toxoid, diphtheria as a major problem will soon disappear from our midst.

They climbed to a thousand feet, two thousand. The meadow fell away beneath them; human beings took on the value of playthings—puppet people with toy automobiles. There was likewise a toy ambulance.

At three thousand feet Gunnar nodded. "Ready? Now you go!" he shouted hoarsely.

Sarah Lynn stood up and made her bulky way toward the opening. She thought he was the palest living person she had ever seen.

"Fling yourself far from the ship. Make sure you are clear. Count a slow ten before you pull the cord!" His words came jerkily. "Wait! You are sure? You wish to go? There is no need, if you—"

Suddenly Sarah Lynn laughed aloud, much with a wild mirth which was heady and sweet. "Still the fear of death?" she mocked him. "Life is one adventure, death is another!"

She was confident, shining-eyed, radiant, but as she made a forward movement his arm shot out and caught her, pulling her against him.

"Sarah Lynn—" he said her name quavered in a choked voice, and kissed her, a fierce kiss, deep and desperate.

Then she was leaping out into swift and stinging air and was amazed to find that she did not immediately fall. The speed of the Hermod was carrying her along beneath it, faced downward, with her arms and legs spread out like a starfish. There was the strange sensation of travelling across the air rather than through it.

"He kissed me!" she exulted. "Gunnar kissed me!"

She began to fall, her body twisting and turning. Now she was looking up at the plane, now down at the earth which was coming swiftly, perilously closer.

"There's something I must do, now!" she thought anxiously. "Oh, yes! The cord! But where is that ring?"

Her fingers fumbled for it. It seemed to be lost in the webbing. Why hadn't she kept her hand on it all the time? She turned over again and saw the Hermod still above her but further away, somersaulted and saw the earth rushing up to meet her. Why hadn't Gunnar taken her higher than three thousand feet?

Sarah Lynn thought suddenly of her mother. She had a poignant picture of Adelaide Dana's upstairs sitting-room, pretty and peaceful, with potted plants whose every leaf glowed, and a canary warbling tenderly in an expensive cage, and quantities of framed photographs of her big brothers and herself and young Bill in all stages of infancy and childhood.

Now!

She found the ring and gave a desperate jerk.

Now! She knew exactly what would happen. The rip-cord would release the pack and the spring ribs of the little pilot chute would open instantly, catching the air and dragging the main chute out into a long line and the wind would rush in at the bottom and expand it. It simply couldn't fail: Gunnar and Conrad and Vance Le Roy had checked it thoroughly.

And even if it didn't work, she told herself sensibly, "there is the emergency chute! I'm not rattled," she rejoiced. And Gunnar kissed me! He was white as a sheet and scared to death about me, and he kissed me! And it was the kind of kiss—

There was a weird noise which was something between a whistle and a shriek: something was fluttering overhead, and then snapping, loudly, urgently.

"It's opening!"

Then a gun went off somewhere, a shocking, thunderous boom, and her downward progress was halted so abruptly that she thought her arms and shoulders were being torn loose from her body. There were uncounted instants of confusion and terror, and then peace enveloped her. Her chute opened and was functioning perfectly. She was floating gently, and everything was quiet under her, a sweet, celestial quietude which was soothing and comforting.

She could see the ambulance moving slowly to keep in line with her. She had lost the Hermod for the moment, but surely Gunnar would land as quickly as possible and come to her. That kiss, she felt, was not final: it must be a prelude. Even if it had been given in high excitement, it stood for an emotion which wasn't to be disposed of with this adventure. Fliers did not marry. Oh, didn't they? Then what?

There was a confused clamor of voices, cheerful, exultant.

"Good girl!" Conrad Jordan said, lifting her to her feet. "Perfect performance!"

"Atta girl!" Vance Le Roy was unfasting her harness, warmed for once into enthusiasm.

"Where is Gunnar?" Sarah Lynn demanded.

Old Pete from the airport was swearing softly and happily, paying her high praise with picturesque embellishments.

"Hold still!" Conrad Jordan had taken out his handkerchief and was wiping her face, and there was bright blood on the white linen.

"What's that from?" she asked impatiently. "I'm not hurt."

"Of course you're not, just a scratch or two when you were dragged."

"Where's Gunnar?"

"He'll be here just as quick as he can set the ship down," her uncle's friend said. "Now we'll just get aboard and let them run us back to Lynn and the old lady."

He was steering her toward the ambulance.

"I'm not hurt. I'm not going to ride in that thing!" she told him spiritedly. "Where will he come down?"

"Quitefast way to get there," he said, taking her arm in a firm grip. "We'll all pile in. Half a mile away!"

He lifted her and set her inside and a white-suited orderly grinned and congratulated her.

"I want Gunnar," Sarah Lynn said.

"He'll be here in a jiffy. Lynn and your Granny need to see you before they're convinced you're safe, though we signalled them. Well, did it all come off according to schedule? Did it follow the pattern?"

"Oh, perfectly! It was heavenly after the chute opened!" she answered, stooping to look out of the ambulance. "I don't see the Hermod."

"But you can hear him? Right over us," Vance Le Roy said.

The matron and the cripple and the old governess greeted her in character. The ancient woman saw in her the reincarnation of her own dim, daring youth, choosing, as she had done, the brightest adventure of her period, and the paralytic substituted his own helplessness in her courage and skill.

"I told 'em it was all plumb foolishness, tagging you round with that hospital wagon, Sairy Lynn," her great-grandmother said. "I said you'd come down like a leaf off a tree. Us Danae we most generally do what we set our minds to! Leastways, us dark ones."

Lynn Dana smiled into her eyes. "I'm glad for you," he told her, "glad and proud. You've given me my best moment, Sarah Lynn."

Miss Pennington's high color was faded but her diction was as crisp as always. "Let me tidy your hair a bit, she bustled up to her. 'I should have thought to have you wear a close net'."

The girl slipped out from under her hands. The Hermod was down and Gunnar Thorwald was out and running toward her. She went to meet him.

"I'll know as soon as I see his face," she told herself. "I'll know the first second—"

Gunnar was still white, but she saw at first glance that he was angry, and her heart turned over in terror. There was in his pale face a look of fright and of fury. She did not know what it meant.

How Women in Their 40's Can Attract Men

Here's good advice for a woman during her change (usually from 38 to 42), who fears that her sex appeal is waning, and who worries about hot flashes, loss of pep, dumpy spells, upset nerves and moodiness. Just get more fresh air, 30 min. sleep and eat a little "WOMAN'S" food. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is a natural, healthful food, builds up physical resistance, thus helps her more ready to move life and sex. Lydia E. ## Just A Suggestion

Grampian Record Of Good Scream Might Scare Holdup Men

We have often noticed in accounts of attempted robberies that when a woman screamed the thug took fright and ran away. Banks' arm their stuff to some extent but it is seldom the manager or some other member of the staff has time to reach for the gun. They don't carry a gun on their hips like cowboys and by the time they could get at the gun, which is probably in a drawer, the gunman, either alone or with aides, has the staff covered, his finger on the trigger. When the robbery is over the manager gets his gun into play, provided he is not locked in the vault, and fires a shot after a fleeing car. But that seldom brings results.

There appears to be nothing so effective as an unarmed woman who can let out a full-lunged scream and keep screaming on these occasions. It has thwarted robberies innumerable times. She screams because she is herself frightened, and in doing so she frightens the robber, because if there is anything he does not want it is for the neighborhood to be alarmed. He needs quiet in which to do his job. He fears a woman's screams more than he does a gun.

So we make this suggestion to banks, storekeepers and all others who take precautions against a hold-up some day. Throw away your guns; get a lusty-lunged woman to make a gramophone record of her best scream and keep on screaming; attach a device to a gadget on the floor of the teller's cage—the cashier's desk, have loudspeakers inside and outside the premises, and when the holdup man says "This is a stick-up," just press the button and let the mystery woman scream. We'll guarantee he'll run.

Maybe it's a daffy sort of idea, but have faith in it.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Not Impossible

Submarine Could Come From Europe To Harbor Of Halifax

An unidentified submarine may or may not have been seen in the harbor of Halifax.

The real point of the thing, at this time, is that a submarine could come to the harbor of Halifax. Could come to it from Europe.

In other words, if war broke out tomorrow, submarines could, and undoubtedly would, come to Halifax. They could come to destroy Canadian shipping; to torpedo ships carrying our products.

German submarines appeared in Canadian waters in the last war. To-day Germany has more submarines than in the last war, and more powerful, submarines with a greater cruising radius.

Which tells what? Simply that talk about Canada being isolated from a war in Europe is nonsense. Germany could—and would—send her submarines across the Atlantic; just as she could—and most likely would—send her bombing planes across the Atlantic. Our seaboard cities, Halifax and Saint John and Sydney, would be under attack—and perhaps our northern mining areas.

The attackers would probably not hear, nor know, about speeches in the Canadian Parliament on "neutrality."—Ottawa Journal.

Fourteen-Ton Typewriter

The cast of a Broadway show staged a one-afternoon stand in New York to celebrate completion of the Underwood-Elliott Flusher exhibit at the World's Fair. Girl dancers prouder on the keyboard of the fourteen-ton typewriter that is the focus of the exhibit and others in the cast stuck their heads through the giant roll of paper in the typewriter roller.

Limit On Arms Profits

Banking Committee Approves Limit Of Five Per Cent. On Non-Competitive Contracts

The senate banking committee approved a five per cent. profit limit on non-competitive defence contracts, after being informed by Senator Raoul Dandurand, government leader, that the cabinet had decided to stand by the clause. Despite objections raised in the senate committee as to its impracticability.

The committee then passed the bill, with numerous changes in the wording, none affecting the principle of setting up a defence purchasing board.

"The government feels it can apply the principles laid down in the act and that it should not provide for larger profits on non-competitive contracts," said Senator Dandurand. The committee had recommended a higher profit than five per cent. be set.

CARS FOR KING'S USE IN CANADA DWARF EVERY THING ON THE ROAD

Selected for the honor of providing two of the four official cars which will be used by the Royal party, General Motors of Canada assigned its most skilled designers and craftsmen to the task of creating vehicles suitable for the momentous occasion—the first visit of the King and Queen to Canadian soil.

To everyone connected with the work, the task of producing the Royal cars is a source of pride. From F. S. McLaughlin, president of General Motors of Canada, down to the humblest of the craftsmen engaged in assembling the cars by painstaking hand labor, the job is prized and regarded as an opportunity of expressing the deep devotion which they and all their fellow-Canadians feel for their King and Queen.

A factor in the according of this double honor to General Motors of Canada by the Government was the fact that General Motors of Canada was able to offer an undertaking that 75% of the cars' content in labor and materials would be Canadian—as compared to the 55% which was stipulated by the Government in

MISCELLANEOUS

News, good or bad, is the prime commodity with which newspapers are concerned. They pay public attention and sell it to advertisers. To imagine that an editor will sacrifice public attention to please anyone is to misunderstand the whole relationship between advertising and the press. . . Advertisers share with editors a common interest in the quality of the "public attention" which the press is able to command. It is the respect that readers have for their paper, and their interest in its contents, that makes the paper valuable to advertisers. . . From Midwest Paper Sales "Papyrus"

Speaking at a flower show in England, Earl Baldwin, former Prime Minister, said that one cannot help wondering if there will ever be enough sanity in the world for nations to see which could grow the biggest onions instead of make the biggest guns. The answer is that we cannot have sanity between nations as long as the affairs of state are managed by the smart, clever and narrow-minded people instead of by the sensible, friendly, broad-minded ones.—From Midwest Paper Sales "Papyrus".

Many persons say, "If I were not driven by my work, and had more leisure, I'd devote much more of my time to self-improvement." That sort of talk is mere idle chatter. At least eight out of ten persons, unless compelled to work, will indulge in mere time-wasting activities. Professor Thorndike, who studied this subject scientifically, found that the average person with leisure devoted only about two per cent to study. The biologist, Albert Edward Wiggam, says that science, in increasing man's leisure enormously, has by so doing merely given him a chance to exercise his three deepest passions—to love, to be important and to get out of work and thus play.

considering plans for the vehicles. The impressiveness and roominess of the vehicles is best visualized by considering the tremendous wheel-base of 155 inches. This is longer than the biggest stock car ever built in Canada, and means that the total over-all length will be more than 20 feet from bumper to bumper.

Ample head-room in the rear compartment is provided for the plumed head-dress which His Majesty frequently wears on formal occasions. Reversed auxiliary seats facing the rear seat occupants are provided for the use of supporting dignitaries or other members of the Royal entourage. Exposed hardware is finished in gleaming chrome.

Among the provisions for the safety of the passengers is the use of "safety tubes" in the six-ply white-wall tires with which the cars are equipped.

COMMENT FROM THE RED DEER ADVOCATE

It is a reasonable assumption that today the majority of Alberta voters are opposed to the present government. It is also reasonable to assume that if and when the constituency is divided into pro-Aberhart and anti-Aberhart votes, the anti-Aberhart votes will win in the majority of constituencies. The Advocate has purposely refrained from calling these votes Social Credit and anti-Social Credit because it does not believe that the Aberhart government has the slightest intention of introducing anything of the nature of Social Credit legislation. If these two fundamentals are granted it follows that the people of this province can defeat the Aberhart government by uniting on anti-Aberhart candidates in each constituency. We do not appear to have reached that position yet, but there are still hopes.

FROM "OBSERVATIONS" BY F.J.S. IN CRANBROOK COURIER

In his letter in this column last week, Mr. Randolph Bruce told of his walking from Crow's Nest to Kootenay Landing in 1895 exploring for the route which is now the Crow's Nest Pass railway, and of noting the "grand forests of pine and fir which then clothed the valley and neighboring hills to their summits, now, alas, fire swept and bare—the penalty of civilization." All who have resided in the district since railway construction days have noted the same thing. They can well recall the time when there were over fifty sawmills operating along the Crow between the two points mentioned by Mr. Bruce, and when it was thought these timber resources were almost inexhaustible. Now every effort is being made to preserve the existing forests and pass on a worth while heritage to future generations. Perhaps this can be accomplished to a certain degree, but the fact remains that we have already eaten or wasted most of our big hunks of cake.

Mr. S. Marshall, who has been in the employ of the Hillcrest Collieries for some thirty years, has resigned his position and intends to make his home in Calgary.
